A Famous Quotation—and Never Truer Than It Is Today

Last Sunday's newspapers (Jan. 30) carried an Associated Press dispatch reporting that a University of Wisconsin study found that:

"The majority of 900 persons questioned wanted to live in or within commuting distance of a large city."

It used to be that a man went to town in search of opportunity to improve himself. But there is a justifiable suspicion nowadays that when a man quits the land and moves to a metropolitan center it is to escape physical labor—even at the risk of accepting public welfare to stay alive.

Some years ago the late W. S. Atkins, Hope attorney, told me over coffee in a Hope restaurant he once heard a quotation of Thomas Jefferson bearing on Americans' migration to the big cities—it was a great quote, Mr. Atkins said, but he was never able to find Jefferson's exact words.

The idea haunted me—until finally I wrote to a Washington (D.C.) researcher and asked him to find it for me. He did so, and here is the Jefferson quotation that he came up with Dec. 22, 1861. Jefferson wrote from Paris, France, to his friend James Madison on Dec. 20, 1787, as follows:

"I think our governments (the states) will remain virtuous for many centuries as long as they are chiefly agricultural; this will be as long as there shall be vacant lands in any part of America. When they get filled upon one another in large cities, as in Europe, they will become corrupt as in Europe."

I used Jefferson's quotation, first in this editorial column, and subsequently in several speeches I made in the Southwest—and the words of the great Democrat were reprinted over the nation. Oddly enough, while editor at the Dorado in the late 1920s before coming to Hope, I fired a humorous shaft on the same subject that also got nationwide reprinting:

"It takes a country boy 20 years to get to town—and $100,000 to get back."

Would Divide Racing Group

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. O. Byrum Hurst said Monday that the state Racing Commission should be divided into two divisions, with one governing horse racing and the other governing dog racing.

Hurst said Monday he was asking that Gov. Dale Bumpers add his proposal to his special legislative session call.

He said if the governor refused to include the measure he would attempt to get the special session to extend himself to consider the measure.

However, he said he expected Bumpers to agree to the proposal because "it gives him a chance to make more appointments."

The state has Southland Park at West Memphis which has greyhound racing and Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs which features thoroughbred racing.

Two Perish at DeQueen

DE QUEEN, Ark. (AP) — Two DeQueen girls were killed Monday in a fire that destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fair.

The victims were identified as Carolyn Sue Fair, 9, and Rhonda Sue Wright, 8, who was spending the night with the Fairs.

Miss Wright was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wright of DeQueen.

Authorities said the fire apparently started when the Fairs attempted to light a wood-burning stove with kerosene.

British Seek to Calm Catholics

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The British government sought to calm the Irish Catholics today by setting up a court of inquiry into the killings of 13 civilians in a battle with British paratroopers in Londonderry Sunday. The Catholics struck back Monday with bomb blasts, fires, strikes, demonstrations and torrents of abuse. Barricades made of hijacked vehicles blazed in Belfast, and clouds of smoke rose from a burning brewery and saloon.

Debt Ceiling Raise Is Annual Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The annual ritual of raising the national-debt ceiling has its roots in World War I, and never has Congress failed to increase it so the government could pay its bills.

If this year's debate goes according to form, Congress will point a finger at the size of the national debt, say it's a shame and ought to be reduced, then go ahead and vote the increase requested by the administration.

Asked what would happen if Congress decided to turn down a debt-ceiling increase, one government official said: "You'd just stop paying the bills. You can't sell the debt because nobody would buy it."

Few economists regard the debt ceiling as a real restraint on government spending, saying that the only discipline comes through the budget and the appropriations bills passed by Congress.

The party controlling the White House has tended to think of debt-ceiling bills as nuisances that must be faced each year. If nothing else, the annual happening requires the time of top officials to go to Congress and officially ask for an increase.

By the time the government goes to Congress each year to seek an increase in the ceiling, most of the important spending decisions already have been made. That makes passage of the bill almost a certainty.

The administration this year is seeking a $50-billion increase in the $430-billion ceiling. It is the largest request to raise the ceiling since the $85 billion in 1943.

If the result of debt-ceiling bills is preordained, why does Congress maintain the ceiling anyway? Officials say it's partly because of tradition, partly because of jealousy of its powers, but mainly for political reasons. It gives the party out of power a good chance to criticize the spending habits of the party in power.

The debt ceiling came on the scene in 1917, but did not evolve into an annual ritual until the debt started soaring during World War II, as the U.S. economy became more complex.

Mobs tried unsuccessfully three times to burn down the British Embassy in Dublin, capital of the Irish Republic.

British Prime Minister Edward Heath announced he would ask Parliament to establish a special tribunal with judicial powers to investigate Londonderry's Bloody Sunday. But spokesmen for Northern Ireland's Catholic minority threatened not to cooperate with any commission set up by a government which they believe is out to bolster Protestant rule in the province.

No action was expected against Bernadette Devlin for her assault on Home Secretary Reginald Maudling in the House of Commons Monday, although normally she would have to apologize or face suspension. Infuriated because Speaker Selwyn Lloyd would not let her question Maudling about the killings, the 24-year-old Catholic deputy from Northern Ireland called the 54-year-old home secretary a "murdering hypocrite," then charged across the floor of the house, hit him in the face, pulled his hair and clawed him.

Dragged out of the Commons chamber, she told newsmen, "I'm sorry I didn't get at his throat." She added: "Both the provisional and official wings of the IRA have said they will each kill 13 paratroopers in vengeance for those who died on Sunday. That is 26 coffins coming home to England—and I won't shed a tear for any one of them."

Miss Devlin was in the crowd at Londonderry when the firing broke out.

Alan Stec, Director of Advertising for Kroger in Arkansas, introduced the dignitaries to a crowd of about 200 and then presented Mack McLarty who gave the welcome address. Stec then turned the ceremonies over to M. C. Haskell Jones. After the ribbon cutting, the store was officially opened.

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Frieda Wilhelm, 50, a native of Little Rock, has been named the first woman director of out-patient services at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Dallas. She heads staff of 12 physicians with a combined patient load of 125,000 visits a year. Dr. Wilhelm, who graduated from the University of Arkansas, assumed her duties Monday.

Fear a Tax Increase

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials apparently have not stilled suspicions among House Democrats that President Nixon may ask for a tax increase, perhaps after the November election.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally and Budget Director George P. Shultz told the House Ways and Means Committee Monday there are no plans now for any tax-increase proposals, despite the big deficits that brought on a request for $50 billion additional borrowing authority.

"We don't assume there will be a tax bill this year or next for the purpose of raising revenues," Connally said.

He said also the value-added tax, a kind of sales tax, is under study along with others but there are no plans now to propose it. The tax is considered likely to figure in plans for school financing, which Nixon has said he is developing.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., who presided over the session, told newsmen afterward he found Connally and Shultz "very evasive on the subject of tax increases."

Ullman said the administration apparently is "contemplating perpetual deficits." He criticized use of the so-called full-employment budget, under which deficits are tolerated provided spending does not exceed what could be financed if the economy were operating at a normal level.

"I don't know how we can get out of this without finding further sources of revenue," Ullman said.

Heavy Air Strikes Resumed by U.S.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes made their heaviest attack on North Vietnam today and Monday since the Dec. 26-30 air offensive. The U.S. Command reported seven "protective reaction" strikes in two days.

The fighter-bombers made five attacks Monday and two more today against surface-to-air missile—SAM—sites, anti-aircraft artillery batteries and radar defenses from the northern edge of the demilitarized zone to a point 50 miles to the north.

The command said the North Vietnamese fired three SAM missiles and a barrage of anti-aircraft artillery shells on unarmed reconnaissance planes, bombers attacking the Ho Chi Minh trail in neighboring Laos, and the fighters escorting them.

The command said all of the American planes returned to their bases safely, and that the results of the retaliatory attacks were not known.

Other U.S. military sources said the American air campaign to blunt the North Vietnamese offensive expected this month along the DMZ and in South Vietnam's central highlands triggered the enemy action.

In other air action, the command reported that U.S. fighter-bombers flew 19 combat strikes in South Vietnam on Monday, the highest number in the south since Oct. 27 when 27 were flown.

The raids were concentrated against the North Vietnamese buildup in the northern quarter of the country and the central highlands.

The South Vietnamese command acknowledged for the first time that its bombers have been flying strikes in Laos since Dec. 1. This had been reported by U.S. and South Vietnamese officials, but the Saigon command said it withheld an official announcement "for security reasons and best results."

It said South Vietnamese bombers have been averaging 5 to 10 strikes a day against the Ho Chi Minh trail, and no planes have been lost. U.S. planes are averaging 200-to-250 strikes a day against the trail network.

The U.S. command reported an increase in ground activity involving American troops, with small-scale engagements between reconnaissance patrols on the eastern flanks of Saigon and North Vietnamese patrols.

It said two soldiers from the 3rd Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry Division, were killed and four wounded in three clashes Monday and today 38 to 45 miles east of Saigon.

New fighting was also reported along the DMZ.

Peace Plan Points Are Compared

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Here in condensed form is a point-by-point comparison of the eight-point American and South Vietnam peace plan disclosed last week and the nine-point North Vietnamese plan presented to the United States in a secret meeting last June 26 and disclosed Monday.

The North Vietnamese points 3 and 4 cover basically the same ground as American point 3 and are combined for comparison.

American 1. Total withdrawal from South Vietnam of all U.S. forces and other foreign forces allied with the government of South Vietnam within six months of an agreement.

North Vietnamese 1. Withdrawal of totality of U.S. forces and those of other foreign countries in U.S. camp from South Vietnam and other Indochinese countries should be completed within 1971.

American 2. Release of all military men and innocent civilians captured throughout Indochina carried out parallel with troop withdrawals. Both sides present complete list of those held throughout Indochina on day agreement is signed.

North Vietnamese 2. Release of all military men and civilians captured in the war carried out parallel with troop withdrawal.

American 3. Political future of South Vietnam will be left for South Vietnamese people to decide, free from outside interference, in a free and democratic presidential election within six months of an agreement. The election will be run by an independent body representing all political forces in South Vietnam, will be under international supervision and will be open to all political forces in South Vietnam. The incumbent president and vice president of South Vietnam resign one month before the election, with the chairman of the Senate assuming administrative caretaker responsibilities except those pertaining to election. The United States will remain completely neutral and abide by the election's outcome.

Both sides agree that South Vietnam and other Indochina countries adopt a foreign policy consistent with the military

Favors Welfare Plan Minus Key Provisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Gov. Ronald Reagan told Congress today he would support President Nixon's welfare reform plan—minus key provisions such as a guaranteed annual income and welfare administration centralized in Washington.

The Republican governor whose welfare reform efforts netted California lower welfare rolls and a fluster of court battles made the pledge in testimony prepared for delivery before the Senate Finance Committee in hearings on Nixon's plan, known as H.R.I.

A feature of the Nixon plan to provide a guaranteed income of about $2,400 for a family of four

"would not be an effective reform of welfare," said Reagan, "but would tend to create an even greater human problem."

"I am not unaware of nor insensitive to the plight of the low earner," said Reagan, "but I believe relief to those families can be provided in the form of Social Security and income tax exemptions."

That part of the Nixon plan has encountered roadblocks from Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who is pushing for a pilot program of working-poor provisions, a move that lessens chances of Senate approval of the bill this year.

The measure passed the House last year. Reagan also said, "We see a fiscal and administrative disaster if the administration of the welfare system is centralized here in Washington as proposed in H.R.I." adding that would increase California welfare costs by $100 million a year.

Among other suggested changes in a 23-point proposal by the GOP governor was a nationwide system of tracking down fathers absent from welfare families.

Supermarket Beef Prices Have Really Stampeded

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Supermarket beef prices, already at record highs, may be on the verge of a full-fledged stampede, according to new government smoke signals.

The Agriculture Department said Monday that January beef-cattle prices broke a 21-year record set during the Korean War, reaching an average of $31.40 per hundredweight for live animals.

Meanwhile, the department says, retail prices of choice-grade beef in December—before the full effect of the record cattle market was felt—rose to a record all-cut average of $1.08 per pound.

Raw farm products are not included in federal price controls, and retailers may pass on added costs to customers.

Also, consumers appear willing to buy beef almost at any price. It is the favorite, by far, and, with second-ranked pork, comprises nearly one-third of the average family's food bill.

Doubts over the cost of meat production were raised Monday by the Food and Drug Administration which served notice it will curb the use of antibiotics in livestock feed unless the medicines are proved safe for meat eaters.

Some agricultural spokesmen say that, if feed antibiotics are banned, costs of livestock production would soar and consumers would end up paying much more. But government experts say the economic effects of an antibiotic ban are impossible to tell at this time.

Rising cattle prices are providing a mixed blessing for the Nixon administration, which wants to see farm incomes improved but shudders at the possibility of a consumer revolt over soaring prices in an election year.

In 1961, when the previous record of $30.30 per hundredweight was set for cattle, retail beef prices averaged 88 cents per pound, fully 20 cents less than today.

Cattleman costs for shipping, processing and marketing beef have risen much more sharply, so farmers are not the primary recipients of higher prices.

Little consumer relief is seen for the near future. Agriculture Department officials predict cattle prices will continue strong and see little likelihood of middleman markets shrinking much.

This, they say, is true even though more cattle are now being fed for slaughter later. As of Jan. 1, there were 8 percent more in fattening pens than a year earlier, and cattle-men say herds are expanding gradually to take care of future needs.

Arrest Warrants Issued in Howard Hughes Case

ZURICH (AP) — The Swiss government has issued arrest warrants for author Clifford Irving and his wife but says it has not decided whether to seek their extradition.

Dist. Atty. Peter Veleff revealed Monday night that the warrants were issued Friday on suspicion of falsification of documents and on "urgent grounds of suspicion" that the couple was involved in a scheme to pocket $650,000 in McGraw-Hill checks meant to pay billionaire Howard Hughes for his purported autobiography.

Veleff explained that under Swiss law an extradition request would be justified if the couple were charged with fraud, but not for charges of forging documents.

Veleff said Swiss authorities had impounded $422,707 in a Zurich bank account in the name of Hannah Rosenkranz and that this probably was a pseudonym for Mrs. Irving.

McGraw-Hill Book Co. gave the three checks totaling $650,-

000 to Irving for delivery to Hughes, and Mrs. Irving has admitted that she deposited them in a bank account in another Zurich bank and then withdrew the money.

Irving, who convinced McGraw-Hill and Life magazine that his Hughes autobiography was based on extensive interviews with the reclusive industrialist, is in New York for appearances before state and federal grand juries also investigating the case.

His lawyer, whom Irving retained last week after attorney Martin S. Ackerman abandoned him, won postponements from both juries Monday so he could familiarize himself with the case.

Irving refused to comment on the Swiss warrants. Nor was any statement forthcoming from his wife, who has claimed that she was acting according to instructions from Howard Hughes when she funneled the checks through a Swiss account that she opened in the name of Helga R. Hughes, using a false passport she claimed was supplied by Hughes.

Irving maintains he had at least 100 secret meetings with Hughes to compile the autobiography. A voice identified as that of Hughes and affidavits in the name of the billionaire reclusive have denied the two ever met and have called the book a fake.

Time-Temperature by Citizens Nat'l Bank

It was announced today that The Citizens National Bank had entered into an agreement last July with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company to provide a unique Time and Temperature Service for Hope. After a delay created by a labor strike at the Western Electric Company, a supplier of some of the components of the system, an extensive installation of equipment has now been completed by the Audichron Company of Atlanta, Georgia.

The new service will make it possible for any person to receive an accurate announcement of the time and temperature by dialing 777-2341. The service listed in the telephone directory under "Time and Temperature Service," will be available on a 24-hour, seven-day-a-week basis, beginning February 1.

When the telephone number, 777-2341, is dialed, the equipment responds with an announcement of the temperature, accurate to the nearest degree, and the time, accurate to the nearest minute. The temperature announcement will cover a range from 40 degrees below to 120 degrees above zero.

The Audichron Company has been installing this equipment for a number of years across the United States. Southwestern Bell felt that the overwhelming acceptance of the service in other areas warranted making it available in cities they serve. Each completed call is registered on meters by the machine. When 777-2341 is busy, a second call is automatically switched to a second "free" line. Four lines have been connected to enable four simultaneous calls to be "answered" when 777-2341 is dialed. The telephone company will determine from the meters the number of lines necessary to insure the best possible service to the community.

Some representative statistics from other communities indicate that 777-2341 will be the busiest number in Hope.

In case of utility power failure, batteries provide constant power flow to maintain continuous operation of the system. If a power interruption does occur in Hope, a quick check with 777-2341 will aid in resetting clocks to the

The youth also has been charged in Washington County with attempted arson, but had not yet been arraigned on that charge.

MRS. PAUL RAWSON

Lioness Paul Rawson just returned from a tour of the Middle East and was the speaker at the Hope Lions weekly luncheon Monday at the Town and Country.

Mrs. Rawson spoke of her impressions of modern Israel that has developed since 1948 when the country was made a separate government. At that time the country had only a very small army and little equipment, and were immediately attacked by seven surrounding Arab nations. But after three wars they are now progressing peacefully and it seems a happy, relaxed country. She told of life in the kibbutzes and how they had turned the desert into a rose.

Modern Jerusalem is a progressive, growing city with great plans for the future and emigrants are now pouring in by the thousands. Hebrew was made the universal language in order to assimilate the eighty different cultures represented by the incoming people.

The three major religions of which Jerusalem is the Mecca were mentioned; Hebrew, Moslem, and Christianity.

Mrs. Rawson went in a group of thirty five people and said this group was part of the approximately six hundred and twenty five thousand visitors to Israel in 1971.

Haskell Jones arranged the program. Visitors were Mrs. Lynn Harris, daughter of Mrs. Rawson, and Lionesses Collier, Lee, Cagle, Morris, and Wimmell.

New Hijacking Security

By VERN HAUGLAND AP Aviation Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has ordered the nation's scheduled airlines to screen all passengers and baggage in an effort to stop hijackings and sabotage.

Major airlines have used the security measures, at least on a part-time basis, for the past two years.

The Federal Aviation Administration, in making screening rules public Monday, also disclosed it seeks to halt illegal publication of police and airplane radio conversations during flight emergencies.

The FAA ordered the new rules into effect immediately, waiving the usual 30-day preliminary notice on grounds that the wave of hijackings has created a threat to public safety of an emergency nature.

The regulations must be met no later than three days after they are published in the Federal Register, probably today or Wednesday. The new equipment and procedures, therefore, will have to be operating at all U.S. airports served by scheduled airlines no later than Saturday.

The FAA said it will accept four screening systems, used alone or in combination: the thoroughly tested and proven hijacker-behavioral profile, magnetometers or similar metal-detecting devices, identification systems, and search of passengers and baggage.

The order will not apply to foreign airlines, air-taxi operators of small planes, or supplemental airlines specializing in charter service.

The FAA said Administrator John H. Shaffer asked the Federal Communications Commission Monday to investigate suspected illegal news-media interception of police radio conversations during hijack emergencies.

Shaffer told FCC Chairman Dean Burch there are reasons to believe some individuals had violated that section of the Federal Communications Act forbidding unauthorized persons from intercepting and divulging the contents of radio transmissions.

"Widespread public dissemination of these radio transmissions could seriously hinder law-enforcement activities during an actual aircraft hijacking and therefore jeopardize the lives of passengers and crew," Shaffer said.

Walk-a-Thon Planned for March of Dimes

Walkers in Hope, Arkansas have an opportunity to test their stamina by participating in the March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon March 11, 1972. The 21.3-mile walk will begin from the Village Shopping Center and will end at the same location after circling the town. The Walk is being sponsored by the Phi Beta Lambda Club of Red River Vocational Technical School in Hope.

"We will be walking to prevent birth defects," says Pat Harris, chairman of the event. "When you remember that some 250,000 babies are born each year with birth defects, you forget about having tired feet."

After registering, each person participating in the Walk-A-Thon will seek contribution pledges for each mile he walks. Walkers may have as many sponsors as they can get—at as much per mile as they can get. During the Walk, the walkers have their Walk Cards stamped at various checkpoints along the route. After the Walk, each walker collects their pledges, using their stamped Walk Card as proof of walking.

All of this money will go for intensive basic and clinical research, public health education campaigns, and rubella immunization and prenatal care programs supported by the March of Dimes. To obtain registration forms, Walk Cards, and Sponsor Sheets, call Pat Harris at 777-5722 or 777-5328. Forms are also available at the Hope High School and Junior High School offices.

Girl Scout Cookie Sale

Girl Scouts in Conifer Council have a special incentive for selling cookies this year. The profit from the 1972 sale will be used to build a swimming pool at Camp High Point, the Girl Scout resident camp near Mena, Arkansas.

Although swimming in a creek in past summers has been fun, the uncertainty of the water level and unstable bank and bottom conditions have limited the kinds of instructions and swimming program available. "With the new pool we will be able to offer a diversified waterfront program including synchronized swimming, water ballet, diving, life-saving, distance relays, canoeing and night swimming," reports Miss Gail Gilbert, Camp High Point director.

Mrs. Bobby R. Revels, the 1972 cookie sale chairman for the council, announces that the five flavors of cookie mint, butter-flavored shorties, assorted sandwich, peanut butter and pecanettes will be sold in a new large family-size package for $1.00. Orders for these five varieties will be taken February 4-12. The cookies will be delivered from March 17-25 and the butter-flavored shorties and peanut butter cookies will be available for direct sale.

Tremor Shakes Missouri

NEW MADRID, Mo. (AP) — An earth tremor shook parts of southeast Missouri where the New Madrid fault is located shortly before midnight Monday.

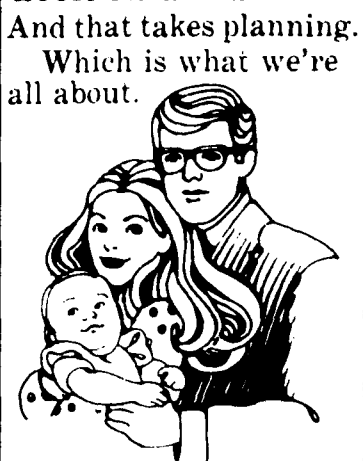

There were no immediate reports of damage.

The St. Louis University seismograph detected the quake at 11:43 p.m. Seismologist James Zolloweg, who described the tremor as "relatively mild," said it registered 3.7 on the Richter scale and occurred about 150 miles from St. Louis.

A New Madrid police spokesman said he heard a radio report about a "shake" at Wardell, about 20 miles to the southwest in northern Pemiscot County.

But Wardell police Chief Gene Young said he had no such reports.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — George Plimpton, who makes his living bumbling as an innocent amateur in area of professionals, on Monday night was trying to be a magazine photographer on the trail of the biggest elephant in Africa.

This time, in the jungles of Kenya, Plimpton seemed more tentative than usual about his assignment. At one point, unexpectedly confronted with a huge python, he became so upset he never did get a shot of the big snake.

This Plimpton adventure probably was the most interesting in the ABC series—provided the viewer was interested in wild life. A powerful amount of incidental information about the ways of the elephant was packed into the hour. Plimpton's previous Walter Mitty-type exploits have never conveyed much more than his own anxieties about being a football player, Western actor, circus performer or nightclub comedian.

This time, Plimpton finally got his quarry in his camera sights. He was turned out by the magazine in a rather self-conscious bit, but may now move on to another field.

The viewer, however, was left with nagging doubts about the validity of the show. If Plimpton was so busily escaping with his life from a trumpeting elephant and was in peril, how come they managed to get so many, many feet of well-focused color film, complete with excellent sound tracks, of these critical moments? Perhaps the real Walter Mittys of the Plimpton series are the members of the TV camera crew.

Well, Archie Bunker did it: The hijinks of television's beloved bigot attracted a bigger audience than Bob Hope's Christmas show. In the most recent Nielsen ratings, CBS's "All in the Family" was the winner, tuned in by more than 38 per cent of the sets in the nation. Hope's report on his entertainment tour attracted slightly more than 31 per cent.

CBS has three solid hours of serious drama planned for Friday, Feb. 25.

The evening will open with a 90-minute special drama, "To All My Friends on Shore," about a man who learns his son is suffering from sickle-cell anemia. Bill Cosby, who had the idea for the show, plays the part of the father and is the coproducer.

It will be followed by "Look Homeward, Angel," an adaptation of the play based on Thomas Wolfe's novel. Geraldine Page and E.G. Marshall have leading roles.

Helen and Sue Bottel The Generation Rap

More About Flag Pockets
DEAR HELEN AND SUE: You anticipated a lot of flack from your answers concerning the flag patch on a girl's jeans—since you both took the girl's side against her father. How did the mail run on the subject? —TIGER

DEAR TIG: We received only 14 letters on the flag patch brannigan—which means (happily) it is one of the lesser issues among readers. Or else (again happily) we made our point better than we dreamed.

Of these 14, nine took the father's side, and five stood with us—to be expected, since conservatives write more letters than do "tradition-breakers." A surprising thing, however, was that almost half the "conservatives" were people under 19, and three of the "liberals" were middle-aged adults. What we have in America today isn't a "generation gap," but an idea gap.

Samples:
DEAR RAP: Wearing the stars and stripes on pants and on patches where they can be sat on or rubbed in the dirt is the kids' way of showing contempt for their country. Anyone (such as Helen and Sue) who says it's "just a fad"—and that people who revere their flag are "programmed by tradition"—is childish and stupid!

Sure, loving your country is something inside you, but it's also "a symbol at the top of a pole" and that's where the flag should be, where we can look up to it and idolize it. The flag is a symbol just as is the cross on the church steeple. . . as is one of those stupid peace symbols the hippies wear around their dirty necks.

These Commie-minded kids wouldn't think of wearing the swastika or the hammer and sickle on their pants. Doesn't that prove something?

As for elders using flag emblems on envelopes and on their cars (which might get in a wreck or be destroyed), so long as it's not the REAL flag, what's the difference? —A PATRIOTIC PARENT

DEAR PAT PARENT: I repeat: Isn't it a question of WHY you're wearing a flag decoration, not where? Most of these so-called "Commie-minded kids" are as straight as the (middle-aged) highly respected writer-artist I know who had a jacket tailored from two American flags. It's his way of saying, "I'll wear my symbols, not bow down to them." —SUE

DEAR PATRIOT: If these kids wore a swastika or hammer and sickle, you'd be the first to holler "Traitor!"—whether it was below the knee or on their head bands. Moreover, you said it yourself: "It's not the REAL flag, so what's the difference." This applies to stars and stripes decorations as well as emblems on envelopes. —HELEN available why is it necessary to make patches of the stars and stripes? If it's such a harmless fad, why don't they latch on to U.N. patches?

Sue, I'll bet you never even heard of Barbara Frietchie, nor has even one in a hundred of your contemporaries. Fess up! —A.P.

DEAR A: I cannot tell a lie: Barbara Frietchie rang no bells with me or any of my friends, but NOW I know who she was. —SUE

DEAR A: . . . Because I quoted the lines, "Shoot if you must this old gray head, but spare your country's flag, she said." That poem was required memory work along with "Hiawatha" and "The Highwayman" back in our time. These days, memorizing classics isn't part of the curriculum. —HELEN

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

Granted, most kids think of flag decorations as merely a fad. Now, it represents a vast bureaucracy of concerted governmental effort to preserve the rights of a favored few at the expense of the unwashed many.

As such, I'll wear its symbol wherever I please, or even burn it. What has this country done for ME? —MALE SLAVE TO THE SYSTEM

DEAR SLAVE: You sound like the little boy who smashed the birthday cake because he didn't win first prize in "Pin the Tail on the Donkey." Nobody said our country is perfect. But if you work within the system, you'll change things a lot faster than if you sit on your flag patch and bellyache about it. —HELEN AND SUE

DEAR RAP: I'm not an over-45 father, but an under-25 student, and usually broadminded. But I think flag patches are offensive, as are stars-and-striped pants and tennis shoes.

I wouldn't patch my pants with a picture of Christ, even though I'm an atheist, because it would offend others who weren't. Isn't using our flag in this way just as bad?

Manufacturers make what will sell. It's up to US to let them know we won't buy! —PROUD TO BE AN AMERICAN

Austria May Quit Olympic Games

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Austrian officials prepared tonight to withdraw their whole ski team—Nordic as well as Alpine—because the executive body of the International Olympic Committee refused to reinstate ace Karl Schranz.

They delayed only on the remote possibility that the full IOC might overrule its executive committee.

Austrian sources said all their top ski officials backed the proposal to withdraw all skiers from the Games. In addition to eight men and six girls in the Alpine division, Austria has three jumpers, three cross country skiers and one Nordic combined skier here.

Schranz was disqualified by the IOC Monday because he sold his name and photograph for commercial advertising.

Dr. Rudolf Nemetschke, Austrian member of the IOC, proposed today that the decision be rescinded.

A spokesman for the Austrian Ski Federation told newsmen "the IOC executive body has rejected the appeal. That means that Schranz must leave the Olympic Village."

However, the Austrian officials still followed protocol.

The chance that the IOC would reverse its executive committee appeared as remote as the prospects of a thaw that would melt the hip-deep snow in Olympic Village.

Nevertheless, Dr. Karl Heinz Klee, president of the Austrian Ski Federation, told reporters he would propose that Austria's Alpine skiers be withdrawn from the Sapporo Games—if the full committee accepted the executive committee's decision.

Before the IOC ruled on the Schranz case the Austrian Ski Federation had threatened that all its skiers would withdraw from the Winter Games if any one of them was disqualified.

Schranz was one of about 40 skiers from different European countries who were being investigated by the IOC for alleged commercialism.

Austrian sources had said earlier that the IOC reopened the Schranz case after accepting a motion by Nemetschke for such action.

Gopher Coach Wants Opinions

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — University of Minnesota basketball coach Bill Musselman, breaking his silence since the Minnesota-Ohio State basketball brawl, says he would like to see public discussions of the matter dropped but defended his players.

He said Monday his continued silence would only lend credibility to some of the accusations resulting from the incident.

"I know we can't condone what happened," Musselman said. "I am deeply sorry that it happened and I know that my players are, too. I don't know what else I can say."

Musselman said he has remained silent on the matter because he was told to do so by Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke. "But I feel by keeping silent now, I'm only making the things said about me and my players seem true."

As a result of the fight between the two teams Jan. 25, Ron Behagen and Corky Taylor received suspensions for the rest of the season.

"I have to let my players know that I am behind them," Musselman said. "I know that Ron and Corky were wrong in doing what they did. They know it too. But they've been punished so why do we have to continue to punish them in public?"

Hope Native Awarded

JAMES E. CORNELIUS

WAKEFIELD, Mass.—James E. Cornelius, Houston branch sales manager for American Mutual Liability Insurance Company, has won the company's "Hawaiian Holiday" sales contest.

He earned the trip by selling $216,000 in creditable new Workmen's Compensation contest premiums during the last four months of 1971.

Mr. Cornelius and his wife, Suzanne, will be flown to Honolulu for a five-day stay at the Halekulani Hotel on Waikiki Beach.

Mr. Cornelius began his career with American Mutual in June, 1967, as an industrial account representative in the Houston office; he was promoted to his present position in January, 1969.

Mr. Cornelius lives at 3117 Georgetown West University, Houston, with his wife and three-year-old daughter, Catherine Ann.

Squires Learn Hard Way

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Virginia Squires learned the hard way that Bob Netolicky bears watching on the basketball court.

Indiana's Netolicky had averaged a mere seven points in two previous American Basketball Association contests against Virginia, giving the Squires little cause for concern Monday night.

By the time they learned their lesson Netolicky scored 26 points and snared 20 rebounds in leading the Pacers to a 123-115 triumph over Virginia.

In the night's other ABA game, Zelmo Beaty tossed in 34 points and snared a career-high 27 rebounds as the Utah Stars crushed the Carolina Cougars 135-115.

Netolicky canned two straight field goals at the end of the third period and poured in eight more points early in the fourth stanza to erase an 83-80 Virginia lead. The Squires' Charlie Scott led all scorers with 37 points.

"Our domination of the boards was of course the biggest key to the game," Utah Coach LaDell Anderson said. "I'm also pleased with our 35 assists, which is better than we've been doing."

Utah outrebounded the Cougars 78-48 and every Star scored, with Willie Wise accounting for 23 and four players hitting 14 each.

Unbeaten UCLA No.1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the second consecutive week, unbeaten UCLA has been unanimously acclaimed as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team.

The all-conquering Bruins, 16-0, received all 44 first-place votes and a whopping 860 points in this week's balloting by an Associated Press national panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Last week, UCLA whipped Chicago Loyola 92-64 and Notre Dame 57-32, extending its two-season winning streak to 31 games. The Bruins' last loss was to Notre Dame in Jan. 1971. They have won the NCAA championship the past five years and seven of the last eight.

The Bruins' performance this season has surprised Coach John Wooden.

"We expected to be good," he said, "but we've come along better than I anticipated. Just how good I don't know."

Wooden said he would still like to wait until the season is over before making a true evaluation of his team, but he said, "I'm exceptionally pleased with our progress."

Marquette, also undefeated in 16 games, held second place in the balloting with 768 points.

Louisville, winner of its last 15 games after an opening loss, moved up one place to third. North Carolina, 13-2, also advanced one spot to fourth, with Long Beach State dropping from third to fifth.

The remainder of the Top Ten also underwent a big shuffle. Penn leaped three places to sixth. Virginia went from eighth to seventh. South Carolina vaulted into the eighth slot. Ohio State tumbled from sixth to ninth, and Brigham Young jumped from 13th to 10th.

Marshall headed the second 10 and was followed by Florida State, Southwestern Louisiana, Hawaii and Missouri. Providence, No. 16, Jacksonville, at 17, and Michigan, ranked 20th, were the new teams in the listing this week.

Southern California took the biggest fall, plunging from seventh to 18th after losing to Providence, Seattle and Santa Clara. Minnesota in 19th place, was the other team in the Top 20.

Knocked from the rankings were Princeton, Maryland and Northern Illinois.

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses, won-lost records through games of Saturday, Jan. 29 and total points on the basis of 30 for first, 18 for second, 14, 12, 10, 9, 8, etc.

Olympic Village for Women Is Compound

By KAROL STONGER

Associated Press Sports Writer

SAPPORO (AP) — The women's Olympic village is about as easy to invade, and as inviting, as a secret government installation.

In the true sense, it's not a village at all but a compound behind barbed wire, its entrance blocked by gray-clad Japanese guards. From a tiny yellow booth that protects them from the elements, they protect some 300 female athletes from intruders.

Their only weapon, which they wield effectively, is polite firmness. While an open door policy exists in the men's village, even a competitor's mother and women reporters with the proper credentials are barred from the women's quarters unless escorted by a resident athlete. And there is still endless waiting and checking and rechecking by the ever-smiling, ever-polite, ever-iron-willed guards.

No men are allowed to tread the hallowed halls of the two forbidding brown structures that tower 11 stories over the Olympic village complex. But the girls, in an age of co-educational college dormitories and free love, profess no anger.

"It's like this wherever we go," said Jojo Starbuck, 22-year-old distaff member of the U.S. national figure skating champion pair from Downey, Calif.

"We can go into the men's quarters but they can't come in here. I guess that means we're the ones who can be selective," she said laughing.

Past the green barbed wire is another warning to outsiders. A huge sign on the outer door proclaims in Japanese, English and French:

"To all pressmen: You are not allowed to enter the dormitory without the permission by the chief of mission, because it is off limits."

But once inside, the warmth of international friendship the winter games are meant to foster pervades and the girls, three to a suite, live and laugh, coming and going between practice sessions and sight-seeing trips.

In Jojo's suite are two other U.S. olympic skaters—Janet Lynn, of Rockford, Ill., the national women's champion, and Barbara Brown of Denver, one of the pairs competitors. Next door are the other American skaters—Julie Holmes, North Hollywood, Calif., who won a gold medal in the pre-Olympics here last year. Sana Murray of South Orange, N.J., and Melissa Militano of Dix Hills, N.Y.

Each of the girls' rooms contains a single bed and night table in walnut-finish plastic, a small wardrobe with four hangers and personal effects—tape recorders, radios, Charley Brown towels and the usual clutter of a college dorm.

"Come look out Barbara's window," beckoned Jojo. "Isn't it great? It's just like home."

The view was of a Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken eatery with Japanese translations for just about everything except "finger lickin' good."

The three, like all the other competitors, share a single bath and a kitchen-sitting room sparsely furnished with two armless red leatherette chairs and ottomans, a small table, a sink, a few drinking glasses, a hot plate and a billowy portable clothes dryer for snow-covered winter gear.

Although the girls' quarters are off-limits to the men, the dining room across the road is international and co-ed and is open from dawn until nearly midnight.

"We can go in and eat any time we want," said Jojo, although each competitor is limited to three meal tickets a day.

And for those with nothing better to do, there is a movie a day. But the Olympic committee must have selected the films with the same protective mind that conceived the women's compound. The most exciting fare, other than "The Four Seasons of Japan" was "101 Dalmatians."

Hanoi Secret Talks Offer Spurned

By SPENCER DAVIS

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnamese documents indicate Hanoi offered to send Minister Xuan Thuy to a secret Paris meeting with Henry A. Kissinger last Nov. 20, but the United States declined, holding out for a higher-ranking Communist representative.

"No point would be served by a meeting," Washington is said to have replied after a scheduled session between Kissinger and Hanoi's special adviser, Le Duc Tho, fell through because Tho was taken ill.

The North Vietnamese account of the canceled session differs markedly from one offered by President Nixon in a nationally broadcast address on the Paris peace talks Jan. 25.

Nixon used the address to unveil an eight-point peace offer made to Hanoi in October, and to disclose that Kissinger, his foreign-affairs adviser, had met in secret 12 times in Paris with Thuy or Tho, or both, in an attempt to breathe some life into the Vietnam war talks.

Nixon said:

"On Oct. 11, I sent a private communication to the North Vietnamese that contained new elements that could move negotiations forward, and urged a meeting on Nov. 1 between Dr. Kissinger and Special Adviser Le Duc Tho or some other appropriate official from Hanoi."

"On Oct. 25, the North Vietnamese agreed to meet and suggested Nov. 20. On Nov. 17, just three days before the scheduled meeting, they said Le Duc Tho was ill. We offered to meet as soon as Le Duc Tho recovered, with him, or immediately with any other authorized leader who could come from Hanoi."

"Two months have passed since they called off that meeting. The only reply to our plan has been an increase in troop infiltration from North Vietnam and Communist military offensives in Laos and Cambodia."

According to the documents released in Paris Monday, a U.S. message of Nov. 19 said Washington was ready to meet with Tho, who is a member of the Politburo, "or any other representative of the North Vietnamese political leadership, together with Minister Xuan Thuy, in order to bring a rapid end to the war ...."

It was at this point that the whole secret negotiating process in Paris broke down. The North Vietnamese have yet to name an alternative date for Tho to meet with Kissinger.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers was asked last week why North Vietnam failed to respond to the eight-point U.S. peace plan offered last October. Rogers told a foreign-policy conference he thought Hanoi was trying to drive a wedge between Americans and their government.

But Rogers did not explain why the United States would not negotiate with Thuy on Nov. 20. The White House indicated it would be necessary to talk to Tho to get recommendations adopted by the political leadership in Hanoi.

However, Nixon said five of Kissinger's 12 secret meetings had been with Thuy alone.

State Department officials see a possibility that the North Vietnamese action in making public its nine-point counterproposal for a peace settlement could be construed as a continuation of the negotiating dialogue between the two countries.

Tech Pushed Into a Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Quachita Baptist University is still on top after Monday night's Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference basketball action but there was a shakeup in the three-way log jam for second place.

Quachita retained its top A C billing after defeating State College of Arkansas 84-77 at Conway.

Tech was pushed from the tie for second place with Southern State and Henderson by a surprise defeat at the hands of Harding.

Harding beat Tech on its own court 85-79 Monday night.

Even though Terry Hankton piled up 35 points for Tech it was not enough to see them through to victory.

Tech only connected on 59 per cent of its free throw shots and 40 per cent from the field. Harding hit on 53 per cent.

The leading scorer for Harding was Fred Dixon with 32 points.

Henderson and Southern State both had victories Monday night.

Henderson defeated UA Little Rock 101-96 and Southern State beat Hendrix 94-69.

In other A C action Monday night Arkansas AM&N beat Arkansas College 93-80 and Arkansas Monticello edged Ozarks 93-87.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB Liver Damage Is Likely

Dear Dr. Lamb — Please explain the cause, effect and treatment for yellow jaundice.

Dear Reader — We could spend several weeks just answering that one question. Jaundice is caused by the yellow, not greenish, pigment that is normally attributed to bile. The pigment material can come from hemoglobin in the red blood cells. One of the major functions of the liver is to handle body pigments which include hemoglobin pigment in the red blood cells. The pigments are processed by the liver and excreted in the bile, giving bile this characteristic color. The bile in turn produces the color of the normal stool.

Basically, then, there are three ways that yellow jaundice can be produced. One is by the excessive destruction of red blood cells, by whatever means, which creates an excess amount of pigment to be processed by the liver. In this case the primary difficulty is with red blood cells or what causes them to be destroyed.

A second cause for yellow jaundice is obstruction of the normal bile drainage. This can be produced by a stone passing down the bile duct and lodging in the bile duct, thereby obstructing normal blood flow into the intestine. We often call this obstructive jaundice. It can also be caused by a tumor of the pancreas which obstructs the normal drainage from the liver.

A third general cause for yellow jaundice is any involvement of the liver itself which impairs the liver's ability to process pigment. There are numerous medicines or drugs which can affect the liver to cause this. Also certain infections, such as hepatitis, can cause jaundice in this manner.

As you can see, there are a host of things which can cause jaundice, from breakdown of the red blood cells to cancer.

The treatment for yellow jaundice then is dependent entirely on its cause. If it is a problem in excessive destruction in red blood cells, treatment must be directed toward this. If there is a stone lodged in the bile duct, obviously effort should be made to remove it. If it is caused by infectious hepatitis, then support for liver function and waiting for the body to recover from its illness will usually take care of the problem.

Invited to Washington

KELLY BRYANT

Arkansas Secretary of State and Mrs. Kelly Bryant were in Washington, D.C. this week at the invitation of members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives, to participate in the National Prayer Breakfast. Congressman Albert H. Quie of Minnesota had invited the Bryants to act as one of the hosts and hostesses for the 20th annual event, at which President and Mrs. Nixon were the honored guests.

Before leaving his office at the State Capitol in Little Rock, Bryant said he was delighted to be able to participate in this inspiring event for the second time, and it would give him the opportunity to be in Washington so he could meet with agencies of the Federal Government to establish methods of better preservation of the State's valuable records.

Bryant said he had been working with the Arkansas Historical Commission for some time on the problem of storing the massive accumulation of State records. Secretary and Mrs. Bryant were joined on their trip to Washington by Russell P. Baker of the Arkansas Historical Commission. Mrs. Bryant and Baker will be working in the archives section of the Library of Congress while the Secretary has meetings with the various Congressmen, the Arkansas Congress Delegation, and several Federal agencies.

Secretary Bryant and Baker have an appointment with Dr. James B. Rhodes, National Archivist of the Library of Congress, to study their methods of taking proper care of old treaties, land maps, city and township maps, and the wealth of old documents for which the Secretary of State is responsible. Bryant said that some of the documents now stored in the State Capitol in Little Rock are over 150 years old, and all of immeasurable value, most of them being irreplaceable.

Bryant, who is President of the National Association of Secretaries of State Association, took advantage of his trip to Washington by calling a special meeting of that organization. Working in cooperation with, and at the specific request of the efficiency committees of the Arkansas House and Senate, Bryant has scheduled this special meeting of the Secretaries of State to study the ways and means that are being used to print the legislative bills of the fifty States. The Arkansas House, Senate, and the Secretary of State have long been working on the problems of swift, accurate and efficient printing of the myriad pieces of legislation that come from each session of the General Assembly.

Immediately following the National Prayer Breakfast, Secretary Bryant joined Governor Linwood Holton of Virginia and Senator B. Everett Jordan in a seminar of State and local leaders. Rounding out a busy morning, Bryant met with Senator Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon and some of the nation's corporate executive leadership for a luncheon.

Bryant said that for the past thirty years, members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives have met each week while Congress was in session for discussion and prayer about issues facing them.

The National Prayer Breakfast came about in 1953, when the President indicated his desire to meet with the Senate and House breakfast groups for personal fellowship and to pray. Bryant explained that over the years it has grown to include the fifty States, and over one hundred countries throughout the world.

Louisiana Holding Election

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A three-term congressman and a Republican attorney who has never before won elective office are matched today in the final round of a battle for the governorship of Louisiana.

Secretary of State Wade O. Martin Jr. predicted a turnout of some 924,000 voters in the showdown election between Democratic Rep. Edwin Edwards of Crowley and David Treen, a lawyer from Metairie.

The 44-year-old French-speaking Edwards, who served as a state senator before moving to the U.S. House of Representatives, estimated he would win with 60 per cent of the ballots cast.

Treen, 43, predicted that he would pick up 55 per cent of the vote and take the statehouse for the Republicans for the first time since 1877.

The state has 1.69 million registered voters, but only 40,000 are registered Republicans.

For Edwards, the general election is the climax to more than a year of campaigning. He finished first in the Nov. 6 Democratic primary, then won a runoff with state Sen. J. Bennett Johnston Dec. 18, by 4,488 votes.

Treen came close to an election victory in 1968 when he pulled 49 per cent of the vote in an unsuccessful attempt to unseat U.S. Rep. Hale Boggs, the House Democratic leader.

During their campaign, both Edwards and Treen hit hard at corruption in government, promised reform of state government and pledged to put Louisiana's finances back in shape.

In addition to the governor's race, there are also contests for lieutenant governor, attorney general and superintendent of education.

Voters also must decide on a dozen proposed constitutional amendments, including one to provide financial aid to persons forced to move by federally funded construction.

Lawyers Accused in No-Fault Insurance

By G. DAVID WALLACE

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's consumer adviser accused the American Trial Lawyers Association today of waging an emotional and deceptive campaign against no-fault automobile insurance proposals.

"The techniques being used by that organization would appear to be so devious, misleading, and blatantly self-serving, as to cast a long shadow over the integrity of the entire legal profession," said Virginia Knauer, presidential assistant for consumer affairs.

Mrs. Knauer, a spokesman for the administration's support of state no-fault insurance programs, made her charges in a letter to the president of the American Bar Association.

She asked the ABA to measure whether the trial lawyers' tactics violate ethics of the legal profession.

"What we are doing is telling the truth," said Marvin E. Lewis, president of the trial lawyers. "We will not be intimidated."

At issue are proposals to pay accident victims under most circumstances without resorting to legal action to fix liability or negligence.

No-fault systems are already in effect in Delaware, Florida,

Puerto Rico and in Massachusetts, where the government has promised a 27.6-per-cent rate cut this year due to savings from no-fault. A no-fault plan passed in Illinois has been declared unconstitutional and is locked in a legal battle.

The American Bar Association is to consider at its convention this week an endorsement of a modified no-fault plan. The smaller American Trial Lawyers Association, whose members handle insurance litigation cases, is opposed to no-fault.

In her letter to ABA President Leon Jaworski, Mrs. Knauer specifically complained about unsigned pamphlets distributed by the trial lawyers, by Lewis' characterization of no-fault as a "hoax and a giant fraud being perpetrated on the public," and a series of newspaper advertisements in Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Knauer said the unsigned pamphlets "strike me as a combination of emotional tactics and half-truths."

"I'm very sorry Mrs. Knauer doesn't like our pamphlets," said Lewis. "I don't like her statement."

Lewis denied his organization was responsible for the Pennsylvania newspaper ads, which were signed "The Ad Hoc Committee of Lawyers."

testify on the general "problems of the White House and the press."

After the investigation was disclosed last November, the White House said it was ordered because Schorr was under consideration for an unspecified federal job. White House aides said the probe was not related to criticism of Schorr's reporting by President Nixon and some administration officials.

Schorr said he had never been offered any administration job, that he did not believe he was being considered for one, and that the probe was meant as harassment.

Ervin said he still hopes to learn what government positions were open at the time of the Schorr investigation, who ordered it and when, what information the FBI was asked to obtain, to whom they were to report, and "what happened to the information collected about Mr. Schorr."

Taxes and Community Property States

By RAY DE CRANE

Taxpayers in this state and seven other Community Property states will generally save money on a joint return, but there are times when separate returns give them an advantage.

When one of the spouses has unusually high medical expenses, a separate return will usually provide a greater medical deduction. Medical expenses paid out of community funds are deductible in equal amounts on separate returns. But those paid out of the separate funds of either are deductible only by the spouse paying them.

Where separate returns are filed in a Community Property state, the withholding tax and the estimated tax payments on community income are claimed 50 per cent by each spouse on his or her separate return.

Similarly, community deductions are claimed on a 50-50 basis on separate returns.

Unlike the rule in common law states, each spouse can claim up to the full $100 dividend exclusion regardless of whose name is on the stock, so long as the income-producing securities were purchased with community income.

A definite advantage is received by Community Property taxpayers in the computation of the retirement income credit.

If one of the spouses had as much as $1,200 per year in earned income for 10 years, each qualifies for his separate retirement income credit with a starting maximum credit of $1,524. Community income earned by either spouse is treated as earned income received one-half by each.

They may claim their individual retirement income credit either on joint or separate returns.

Says New Methods Don't Help Children Learn

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Office of Economic Opportunity says its experiments with performance contracting indicate the new method doesn't help poor children learn any better than traditional classroom teaching. Two giant teachers' organizations say, in effect, "We told you so."

OEO Director Phillip V. Sanchez told newsmen Monday, "We're back at the drawing board" following the failure of the $6.5-million experiment to improve the reading and math skills of poor children.

During the 1970-71 school year, performance contracts were signed with private firms that used combinations of teaching machines, special materials and student and teacher incentives in an effort to greatly improve pupil-learning levels.

The companies were to be paid based on the degree of improvement the children achieved.

The 13,000 children in an experimental group and 10,000 in a control group "did equally poorly in terms of achievement gains," the preliminary report said.

David Seldon, president of the American Federation of Teachers, responded:

"As we have said right along, OEO should stick to the poverty business and leave education to the teachers.

"Now that the failure of performance contracting has been acknowledged, it is time to devote ourselves to building a truly fine school system based on recognized principles and not on educational gimmickry."

And Donald Morrison, president of the National Education Association, said the OEO report verifies what the NEA has been saying "all along, the performance contracts simply don't work unless they meet carefully drawn criteria."

"If performance contracting is to succeed," Morrison added, "the key will be teacher involvement from the beginning."

Questions Cough Remedy Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has asked for documentation of advertising claims made by the nation's major cough-and-cold remedy makers.

Sixteen manufacturers were ordered to show their claims were proven. They have 60 days in which to comply.

The action is the latest in a recent series of FTC demands that advertisers authenticate the claims they make for their products.

Car makers, air-conditioner manufacturers and makers of toothpaste and denture cleaner have been among the previous manufacturers ordered to show their claims were true.

Although the order does not say current advertising is false for the cold-and-cough-remedy makers, it does mean the claims must be documented.

Some of the claims the FTC is concerned about include:

—Contac provides relief from symptoms of a summer cold for up to 12 hours.

—4-Way Nasal Spray provides effective decongestant relief as fast or faster than other decongestants.

—Alka Seltzer Plus cold tablets provide effective relief from the sneezing, sniffing, stuffy nose, sinus headache, body aches and feverish feeling which may accompany a cold.

Warner-Lambert Co. of Morris Plains, N.J., which makes Listerine products, said it is ready to document claims about four of its products listed

Seeks Expansion in State Services

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Legislative Council recommended Monday that next week's special legislative session approve Gov. Dale Bumpers' proposal for a multi-million dollar expansion of the state's social service programs.

The legislation was among 24 special session items endorsed Monday by the council, which hoped to complete its review of Bumpers' 40-item agenda today.

One major item on which the council made no decision Monday was a bill drafted by the attorney general's office to extensively rewrite 1971 drug control legislation.

Legislators agreed on the need for further legislation on the subject, but were divided Monday over whether to recommend passage of the bill as revised by the council or to refer it to the General Assembly in the form originally proposed.

In approving the social service legislation, the council wrote in a provision to restrict the amount of funds that could be transferred within accounts of the Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services to carry out the proposal.

Bumpers seeks legislative approval to transfer state money from the various funds of the SRS department for use where they are needed to match federal dollars under the Social Security Act. He also proposes the expenditure of more than $462,000 in additional state dollars.

Dr. Roger Bost, director of social and rehabilitative services, says the program would enable the state to obtain an additional $36 million in federal funds in the biennium ending June 30, 1973, to expand care for juvenile delinquents, the aged, mentally retarded and mentally ill children and adults and the blind and disabled.

Sen. Clarence Bell of Parkin asked if the proposed legislative grant of discretionary authority to the governor to transfer funds was constitutional.

Council Director Marcus Halbrook said he thought the plan was legally defensible as long as the legislature adopts the amendment proposed by the council to set limits on the amounts to be shifted.

The council stipulated that most of the funds would come from anticipated savings in the operations of the Booneville Tuberculosis Sanatorium. In no event, the council said, could more than $200,000 in new state money be spent for the program.

by the FTC.
Menley and James Laboratories of Philadelphia said they can substantiate ads for Contac and C-3 cough capsules.

Draft Lottery Drums Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two locked plastic drums, one containing numbers and the other dates, are sitting in the Commerce Department here waiting to decide the fate of those sands of the nation's 19-year olds.

Selective Service officials loaded the drums Monday with dates stuffed in red capsules and numbers in blue as official observers watched to insure that Wednesday's draft lottery will be as fair as possible.

A back-up set of capsules and drums also was filled in case one of the first-line drums breaks, as one did last year.

On Wednesday, officials will publicly match the red and blue capsules to determine which of the nation's youths born in 1953 will be given priority consideration for being inducted into the military.
